

It takes more than courage to beat cancer®

Where Your Money Goes:

To fund hundreds of important clinical trials that lead to the development of new cancer fighting drugs.

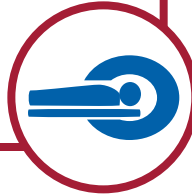

To advance Dana-Farber's signature "Total Patient Care" by enhancing programs including support groups, nutrition education, art and music therapies, and our pediatric "Back to School Program."

To support Profile, Dana-Farber's research study that tests the tumors of all consenting patients for nearly 500 mutations in 41 cancer genes.

To buy state-of-the-art equipment that enables revolutionary research discoveries.

To fund the Institute's renowned adult and pediatric survivorship programs, including a dedicated research center as well as programs that focus on the long-term physical, emotional, and social effects of cancer treatment.

To maintain a world-class facility by attracting and retaining the highest caliber faculty, and recruiting innovative scientists and clinicians from around the globe.

To improve the health of our communities through initiatives like the Blum Family Resource Center Van, Mammography Van, and our partnerships with health centers throughout the community.

To invest in future cancer breakthroughs by providing flexible funding for Dana-Farber's areas of greatest need.
